FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Long Island, NY (June 2010) – PW Grosser Consulting a leading Engineering and Environmental Consulting Firm located in Bohemia, NY commends Paul K. Boyce, PE in his appointment to President of the American Council of Engineering Companies (ACEC) Long Island Region. PWGC has been a Member of ACEC since 1990. Mr. Boyce has been actively involved with the LI Chapter that serves both Nassau and Suffolk Counties and previously served as ACEC's Long Island Chapter Vice President.

Serving as Vice President of P. W. Grosser Consulting (PWGC), Mr. Boyce has 20 years of environmental engineering and consulting experience serving municipal, commercial, public and private clients in the New York metro area. He received his MS in Environmental Engineering from Polytechnic University, NY and his BS in Civil Engineering from SUNY Buffalo, NY. Since joining PWGC in 1993 he has compiled an impressive portfolio of successful projects focusing on strategies, designs, management, and execution. He specializes in creating customized structural, mechanical, and civil/environmental designs, implementation strategies, and management plans. His thorough knowledge of regulatory issues and his dedication to sustainable engineering solutions provides clients with invaluable guidance and effective tools to establish and effectively implement long-term strategies.

Additionally, ACEC – Long Island Chapter appointed Charles Bartha, PE, of Sidney B. Bowne & Son, LLP as Vice President; Jim Hirani of Hirani Engineering and Land Surveying, P.C. as Secretary; and Fotios Papamichael, PE, of Gannett Fleming Engineers and Architects, P.C as Treasurer. Appointed as new State Directors are Joseph R. Amato, PE of Cameron Engineering & Associates, LLP; Eugene F. Daly, PE, P.T.O.E of L.K. McLean Associates, LLP; and John M. Waltz, PE of Sidney B. Bowne & Son, LLP.

ABOUT AMERICAN COUNCIL OF ENGINEERING COMPANIES (ACEC)
